	AWW up to 50 percent of the statewide AWW, plus 50 percent of the employee's AWW that is more than 50 percent of the statewide AWW. The maximum weekly benefit is $1,129.82, and is adjusted annually to an amount equaling 64 percent of the state AWW ¹⁴⁹
Connecticut	For workers paid wages less than or equal to the Connecticut minimum wage multiplied by 40, the weekly benefit rate is 95 percent of the worker's average weekly wage (AWW) rate. For workers paid more than the Connecticut minimum wage multiplied by 40, the weekly benefit rate is 95 percent of the Connecticut minimum wage multiplied by 40 plus 60 percent of the amount by which the worker's AWW exceeds the Connecticut minimum wage multiplied by 40, up to a maximum of 60 times the Connecticut minimum wage ¹⁵⁰
Oregon	For workers paid 65 percent or less of the statewide average weekly wage (AWW), the weekly benefit rate is 100 percent of the worker's AWW. For workers paid more than 65 percent of the statewide AWW, the weekly benefit rate is 65 percent of the statewide AWW plus 50 percent of the employee's wages above that amount. The maximum weekly benefit is 120 percent of the statewide AWW, and the minimum weekly benefit is 5 percent of the statewide AWW ¹⁵¹
Colorado	The weekly benefit rate is 90 percent of the individual's average weekly wages (AWW) that are at or below 50 percent of the statewide AWW, plus 50 percent of the individual's AWW that are above 50 percent of the statewide AWW. The maximum weekly benefit is $1,100 in the program's first year, and will be adjusted annually to an amount equaling 90 percent of the state AWW ¹⁵²
Maryland	For workers paid 65 percent or less of the state's average weekly wage (AWW), the weekly benefit rate is 90 percent of the worker's AWW. If the worker's AWW is greater than 65 percent of the state AWW, then the weekly benefit rate is 90 percent of the worker's AWW up to 65 percent of the state AWW plus 50 percent of the worker's AWW that is greater than 65 percent of the state AWW¹⁵³ If the worker is taking partially paid leave, the benefit amount is the lesser of these two amounts: 1) the amount required to make up the difference between the wages paid to the worker while the worker is taking partially paid leave and the full wages the worker is normally paid; and (if the worker's AWW is greater than 65 percent of the state AWW), the sum of 90 percent of the worker's AWW up to 65 percent of the state

AWW plus 50 percent of the worker's AWW that is greater than 65 percent of the state AWW.¹⁵⁴

The maximum weekly benefit will be $1,000 for the 12-month period beginning January 1, 2025 and will be adjusted annually based on the product of the maximum weekly benefit amount in the immediately preceding 12-month period and the annual percentage growth in the Consumer Price Index for the D.C. area in the immediately preceding 12-month period¹⁵⁵

Delaware The weekly benefit is 80 percent of the worker's average weekly wages (AWW), rounded up to the nearest even $1 increment, during preceding 12 months. Maximum weekly benefit is $900 in 2026 and 2027. For each year after 2027, the maximum weekly benefit will increase in proportion to the Consumer Price Index for the Philadelphia area. The maximum amount, as determined using the Consumer Price Index, must be rounded to the nearest even $5 increment¹⁵⁶

Minnesota For workers paid 50 percent or less than the state average weekly wage (AWW), the weekly benefit is 90 percent of the worker's AWW. For workers paid more, the weekly benefit is the sum of 90 percent of the worker's AWW up to 50 percent of the state AWW, plus 66 percent of wages that exceed 50 percent but not 100 percent of the state's AWW, plus 55 percent of wages that exceed the state's AWW, with a maximum benefit of the state's AWW¹⁵⁷

Maine For workers paid 50 percent or less than the state average weekly wage (AWW), the weekly benefit is 90 percent of the worker's AWW. For workers paid more, the weekly benefit is the sum of 90 percent of the worker's AWW up to 50 percent of the state AWW, plus 66 percent of wages up to the maximum weekly benefit, with a maximum benefit of the state's AWW. The maximum weekly benefit will be adjusted annually in order to maintain the solvency of the fund¹⁵⁸
